

Secretary Tells of Work of Grain Commission

Sittings in Western Canada Begin on Monday and Will Continue for Two Months

Mr. J. R. Boyle, M.P.P., has returned to Edmonton after an absence of over two months in the east. Mr. Boyle is secretary of the Royal Commission appointed by the Dominion government to investigate the grain trade of Canada.

The commission has returned to the west, having spent two months pursuing their investigations in eastern Canada grain points, and some American grain centres.

The commission held sessions at Winnipeg, Fort William and Port Arthur, Owen Sound, Meaford, Collingwood, Midland Depot Harbor, Toronto, Kingston, Montreal, Sarnia and Goderich. Sessions were also held in Buffalo, Chicago, Minneapolis and Duluth. A large amount of evidence was given relating to grain inspection, loss in transit, discrepancy in weights, preservation of identity of grain in transit, lake and rail freight rates and elevator charges. Other lines of investigation were the cleaning of grain at Fort William and Port Arthur by terminal elevators according to dockage set by the inspection department at Winnipeg.

The following interests in eastern Canada were well represented: The Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal grain dealers and exporters, lake carriers, terminal elevator operators and owners, railway companies and the Ontario Millers' association. The department of agriculture of Ontario appeared before the commission with reference to the shipment of screenings from Fort William and Port Arthur elevators to Ontario millers. The department protested against this on the ground that many varieties of weeds were thus introduced among the farmers. The department asked that any screenings should be thoroughly ground before shipping so as to destroy the germinating qualities of all weed seeds.

At Buffalo the commission had a chance to examine into the Buffalo chamber of commerce and the system of grain weighing, elevator facilities and methods of handling grain. At Chicago much time was taken in studying the sampling markets, the state grading and inspection department of the board of trade, the sampling department and weighing department.

At Minneapolis the commission looked into the sample market which is the largest and most extensive on the continent. From Minneapolis the commission proceeded to Duluth, where they specially examined into the terminal elevator facilities.

The commission now propose to take up the farmers' side of the grain trade question during the next two months and will visit the important country grain shipping points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. They will also go to the coast with a view to look into the present conditions and future possibilities of the grain trade via Pacific ports.

After this they will go to the old country and look into the conditions under which Canadian grain arrives and is marketed there.

The commission will hold sufficient sittings in the west to give all farmers and farmers' organizations ample opportunity to bring forward any complaints, grievances or recommendations. The commission commences their western tour on Monday, Nov. 5th, at Portage la Prairie, and will continue at the following places: Brandon, Nov. 7; Cypress River, Nov. 9; Carman, Nov. 12; Manitou, Nov. 14; Deloraine, Nov. 16.

While on his travels Mr. Boyle was impressed with the lively manner in which everybody in the east was talking about the west. To say you are from Edmonton in any eastern city is at once to be surrounded by a crowd of anxious inquirers. Edmonton is in the forefront, and the current opinion in financial and business circles is that Edmonton shall be the next city to Winnipeg in the Canadian west.

Mr. Boyle says it is becoming more widely known every year that we in this country have the largest area of wheat lands on the continent. This is realized by the American wheat dealers and Minneapolis mill-

Who Will Run?

ELECTION SEASON APPROACHES

Rumor Seeks Candidates for Mayorality But Many Spoken of Refuse Proposed Honor

As the season for the municipal campaign approaches the annual question is being asked once again: "Who are to be the candidates for mayor?"

A great many names are being suggested, but a careful canvass by the Bulletin this morning failed to disclose any avowed candidates.

Mayor May is in Ottawa today and as the wires were not working any too well he could not be asked the question, but his friends here seem to take it for granted that he will offer himself for a second term. This, however, cannot be definitely stated until Mayor May returns.

The other citizens whose names were suggested on the street were almost unanimous in repudiating any intention of entering the field for mayoralty honors.

Mr. A. T. Cushing, whose name has been frequently mentioned, was as brief as the English language would permit.

When asked the stock question "Are you a candidate for mayor?" he said "No."

Ex-Mayor Mackenzie was almost as brief, and more emphatic. His answer was:

"Positively, no."

To further questioning Mr. Mackenzie said that there was nothing more to be said.

Mr. Morris, whose name has also been mentioned, denied having any aspirations to the high seat.

"Are you a candidate for mayor?" he was asked.

"No, sir," said Mr. Morris. "I am not."

William Scott said that he hoped the city would find a good man for mayor, but that he had no intention of accepting the responsibility. His answer was the usual "No."

Alderman Grisham was the only man found who would say any more than "no." He stated that he had had no nomination pressed on him and he thought it a little early to say what he would do if it was. If he had decided to run for mayor he would have no hesitancy, he said, about making the announcement.

The date of nomination is the first Monday in December, the 3rd, and the election will take place on the following Monday, December 10th.

DR. WILBERT MCINTYRE, M.P.

Dr. McIntyre, Liberal representative for Strathcona, was born in Victoria county. For some time he taught school and then continued his studies at Owen Sound Collegiate Institute, from which institution he matriculated in 1893. He then spent some time travelling in the west, and in 1895 entered the University of Toronto to study medicine, graduating in 1900. After taking his degree he spent a year and a half on the household medical staff of the Toronto General hospital. The doctor then came west, settling in Strathcona.

Faithful attention to his professional duties, and his sterling qualities as a citizen, soon marked him as one of the leading men of his district, and it was only natural that one so highly esteemed by his fellow citizens should be honored with their confidence as parliamentary representative. During the session at Ottawa, the doctor has been a zealous advocate of the interests of his constituency and the west generally.

Plans Filed For Clover Bar Bridge

Car Line Petition

WILL COME UP TONIGHT

Residence of Kinistino Will Ask Council to Alter Proposed Route

At the council meeting this evening the petition published a few days since will be submitted to the council and commissioners asking for the construction of the proposed street railway on Kinistino avenue in preference to Namayo avenue. The petitioners are in earnest and have been actively circulating the petition among the ratepayers in the east end during the last two days. It is claimed that Kinistino and Jasper is a natural junction point for two lines and will make the system more convenient for the residents of the flats at the east end. This part of the city is rapidly filling up.

It is claimed also that if residents have to walk as far as Namayo for a car they will walk all the way and the revenue will suffer.

It is further claimed that Kinistino is wider than Namayo and taps a larger body of population and one that is rapidly increasing eastward and northward. One dealer told the Bulletin he wanted the railway because he had a large and growing number of customers in the west.

It is also stated that the railway on Kinistino would reach a larger number of laboring men's homes, who would thus be able to get their meals at home while working anywhere in the city. "The railway and a warm dinner is what the laboring man wants," said P. Chakluk.

The residents of Namayo appear to be in favor of the line being laid on Namayo because it will, they say, give a business importance to it, and advertise the street more than any other scheme, and give increased value to property.

No counter petition will be submitted. The petitioners have engaged Mr. Newell as their counsel to present the case before the council.

Location of G. T. P. Line From Cooking Lake to Crossing of Saskatchewan Placed on File at Registry Office

Plans were filed in the land registry office here yesterday for the Grand Trunk Pacific railway for the road from the south line of township 51 north, range 19 west, to the west line of township 53 north, range 23 west of the fourth meridian, being mile 77,619 to 112,942.

Interpreted, this means that the line from a point to the south and west of Beaver Lake to a point on this side of Clover Bar, has been filed, including the location of the Clover Bar bridge and the Clover Bar townsite.

The line runs along the north side of Hastings Lake and crosses Cooking Lake on a trestle at the narrow neck between Cooking Lake and the bay of Cooking Lake, which is just about the dividing line between sections 11 and 12. The road follows a northwesterly direction to the northeast quarter of two and the west half of three, where the first switch and station yard is located. Thence the line crosses the northeast quarter of 12, the southwest quarter of 13, the southeast quarter of 14, the northwest quarter of 14 and catenators the north half of 15 into the southwest corner of 16, where the station grounds are located. From there it swings down in a sort of quarter circle to the crossing, which is from Ottwell's place on section 17, to what is known as subdivision 7 of section 18, of the Edmonton Coal company's property. The plans filed show the approaches on both sides, but do not extend beyond the Edmonton Coal company's property on this side, a matter of half a mile or so from the river.

lers, who are very anxious to get Canadian wheat for grinding purposes, but are prevented by the American tariff. "Canada has the States beat in wheat," they say.
Mr. Boyle further says the eastern man is not a factor in the export grain trade any longer. The western competition and superior quality of western grains have forced him to adopt the system of feeding his grain on the farm and to go into dairying, live stock and pure stock breeding.

OUTCOME OF THE EXCURSION.

(J. A. Acland in Toronto Globe.)

As to the general outcome of the great excursion there is but one opinion. It will grow in popularity between east and west, greatly increasing knowledge of the west by eastern men. There will be immediate response to the demand of the west for the eastern man, and he will be on the ground with factory or warehouse or branch establishment. The question is no longer whether the east man shall establish himself in the west, but at what point or at how many points he shall locate, and endless were the discussions on the train among keen and active business minds as to the relative merits of any of distribution or manufacture of Winnipeg, Port William, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver. Every element that entered into the case—freight rates, motive power, distance from market and raw material, railway facilities, cost of labor, etc.—was actively canvassed, and the general consensus of opinion finally arrived at was, however great other centres in the west may become, the greatest of all will be, by virtue of natural or derived advantage, Port William, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver. The measure of the growth expected is best judged from the prophecy of President Cockshutt that Port William would be a city of 200,000 within twenty years.

Agriculture in Northern Alberta

For the purpose of this paper, Northern Alberta will be made to include the country from the northern boundary to within forty to fifty miles of Calgary. This division is virtually based on the presence or absence of brush and timber on the land. More or less of both are found all over the country within the limits named and increasingly so to the northward. The bushes in some instances dot the landscape, which but for their presence would be open prairie.

In other instances are stretches of prairie of considerable size covered with luxuriant grasses, which the settlers are beginning to utilize for hay. Up toward Edmonton are considerable stretches of forest. The whole area evidences in its vegetation a sufficient rainfall for all the needs of agriculture in a temperate climate.

One could not imagine more perfect conditions of surface conformation for easy tillage than are found in this charming agricultural country. There is enough slope to carry away the water and not enough to make tillage in any sense difficult or to promote washing in the land when tilled.

Soil and Subsoil.

The soil of this region is a clay loam, in the lower lands largely vegetable in composition, while in the higher land there is more clay. The clay, however, does not seem to get harder than loam in any part, and in some localities it is mixed with sand enough to give it the texture of good turnip land.

But good as is the soil the chief agricultural glory of this land is found in its subsoil. It consists in many parts at least of mild clay which goes away downward with but very little change of texture. It is not so open as to be predigal of water, nor is it so close as to hinder free capillary action.

The yields of grain obtained in this section are such as savor of fabulosity. After diligent inquiry to get at the facts I have reached the conclusion that the average return of winter wheat is twenty-five to thirty bushels per acre; in spring wheat twenty-five bushels; in barley thirty-five bushels, and in oats from stubble land fifty-five bushels. Mr. James Tough, an experienced farmer of Edmonton, told me that he had frequently grown one hundred bushels of oats per acre from summer fallow or newly broken land and from fields containing not less than thirty acres.

Peanut production goes so far as vine is concerned, but on soils strongly vegetable in composition they fail to ripen in some instances. This difficulty will disappear with the wearing of the soil and also with the introduction of quick maturing varieties. This will be a great pea country.

Flax grows immensely. Samples were in the grain exhibit not less than three and a half feet high and well laden with seed. The very best of flax fiber may be grown in Northern Alberta.

Dwarf Essex rape may be grown of enormous size on nearly all the land. When well grown every acre of rape produced in this region will fatten ten to fifteen head of sheep.

Fed roots grow exceptionally well. They are of mammoth size. Fall turnips grow at their best and the same is true of mangels. Rutabagas were amply large but were a little too young to indicate the highest type of turnip soil, but they saw a few specimens.

All kinds of garden vegetables, with the exception of those calling for a mild climate, grow excellently, and as of fodder corn, but it does not, of course, mature.

Grasses and Legumes.

Timothy is a great success. The same is true of Russian brome. Red top is indigenous. Blue grass has been but little tried but may be looked upon as an assured success because of the growth of so many other crops, the presence of which points to this conclusion. That small white clover will grow. That luxuriantly has been abundantly demonstrated in many places.

The past season, Mr. Tough referred to above, grew red clover, and also alfalfa on both inoculated and uninoculated lands. The difference in growth was greatly in favor of the inoculated soil. This shows that inoculation, for some soils, at least, will be greatly advantageous when starting the growth of these legumes, but whether or not inoculation is necessary in all soils in Northern Alberta, there can be no question but that both will soon be grown over wide areas of the same.

Growth of Live Stock.

The ability of such a country for live stock production need not be discussed for one moment. The only questions with the farmer are: which kind shall he keep and how many will his land support? Because of the abundance of the grasses and forage crops which the soil produces and of the shelter, shade and water, fine results may be realized from dairying. Because of the abundance of these and of the coarse grain products, equally good results may be expected from growing beef.

A goodly number of the settlers are already successfully growing swine and with much profit, as the case with which skim milk, rape, peas and barley may be produced, greatly facilitates this industry and adds to its profitability. Mutton and wool will also be abundantly grown as soon as advancing civilization drives the timber wolves into Athabasca.

The destiny of this rich country is undoubtedly mixed farming with live stock as its leading feature. It is going to be a land of small farms with corresponding density of population.

The Climate.

The climate of Northern Alberta is not so severe as that of the Red river valley. The snowfall in winter is considerable, but it is not heavy. The springs are a little late and chilly, but the summer weather is simply superb. The days at Edmonton in midsummer are eighteen hours long, and yet the nights are cool. Killing frosts in autumn seldom come before September 1.

Markets.

The R.Y.&P. has been in Edmonton for several years. The Canadian Northern reached there last fall. The Grand Trunk Pacific is also making for the same point. The two latter will soon reach the ocean. The mountains with the mines, are not distant. The forests with their timber, are at hand. With so many outlets for surplus products prices must continue good.

Homesteads may still be had, especially along the Canadian Northern. Those along the line of the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Pacific are some distance from the road, but lands may be purchased at prices varying from $10 to $30 per acre according as they are improved or unimproved. Those who secure lands at these rates must not defer doing so very long, as lands are sought for all the while by eager applicants.

THE EAST AND THE WEST

The following press dispatch reflects the changes in the industrial life of the eastern provinces which are being wrought by the movement of people from those provinces westward to the unoccupied areas of the Dominion.

"The price of coal from the Nova Scotia mines will be increased this year. So say the mine owners; and all because Western Canada needed a few extra thousand men to harvest its wheat crop. When the call for help was sounded the railroads came to the rescue and such cheap rates were struck from points in the Maritime Provinces that the young men, used to hard work, and with a taste for travel was induced to desert his employment and come west.

"As a matter of fact Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were already short of men. Fishing schooners lay at anchor, coast freighters remained docked while lumbermen had great difficulty in obtaining men to keep the big pulp mills going because the young men of the provinces lured by the success of others had departed for the west or had been attracted to the big cities of the United States.

"The mine owners have complained to the railroads asking that the harvesters' excursion be discontinued, and the railroads reply that the crop must be harvested as to them it means much shipping of wheat. Miners and dock employees are unemployed and object to the importation of labor as other mine owners have issued the edict that this winter, Nova Scotia coal must advance in price.

"But not only the harvest excursions are to blame for this state of affairs, as hundreds of men weekly leave eastern points for the railroad camps of the west, the lumber camps of the north, and the mining regions of Ontario. From Ottawa to Port William and north to the Hudson's Bay, the country is full of prospectors encouraged by occasional small finds and the luring tales from Cobalt.

"Throughout the Maritime Province the farms are gradually falling into hands of the old men, while the younger sons are becoming prosperous homesteaders on the prairie lands. Some say it does not pay to come west, but their arguments merely show that the reason it pays them to stay east is because so many others have left.

"Through the general development of the eastern provinces does not begin to compare with that of the west, buildings are left unfinished owing to the shortage of labor, while those who work are making good wages.

"The man would have had ridicule for his pains who ten years ago foretold that the price of coal in Nova Scotia would rise because miners were flocking to the west or that the farms of the Maritime provinces would fall into neglect while the boys then growing up would plough the prairies or search for treasure among the rocks of Northern Ontario.

"Such are the changes of a brief decade, but they have not come by accident. They are the evidence of the spirit of enterprise which has enticed the people of the Dominion from coast to coast—a spirit born of broader knowledge of our natural resources and broader opportunities for bringing these into the service of mankind.

"It is in obedience to the call of this spirit that some communities and some enterprises must exist, the compensating advantage to the nation is that the condition of those least favored by the former order of things has been bettered, and men for man Canadians never were so wealthy as they are today.

IMPERIAL GOVERNMENT SATISFIED

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—Sir Frederick and Lady Borden have returned from England. This morning the Minister of Militia was back at his desk and looking as though the trip had agreed with him. Sir Frederick met Sir Edward Ward, Permanent Under-Secretary of the War Office, several times, and had the pleasure of dining with Mr. Haldane, Secretary of State for War. He had not, he found, to be a bright, intellectual man of great energy and capacity.

"The Imperial Government," observed Sir Frederick, "appears to be well satisfied with conditions here as regards military affairs and our policy generally in military matters. They are very anxious to co-operate with us and save us in every possible way. We had some further talk as to possible exchange of officers. The principle has been already recognized and an exchange carried out between Australia and Canada. While in England some of the capitalists who have been talking of establishing an ordnance factory here called upon me, but nothing of a practical nature developed. If they go ahead with the scheme they will doubtless form a Canadian company."

Commercial Agent Kitchin reports to the Department of Trade and Commerce from South Africa that the importation of hard wheat flour is declining. The chief cause of this is the fact that it has been quoted up to as much as $1.20 per hundred pounds above the price of Australian soft flour and also because of the increase of duty on flour without any corresponding increase in the price of bread, which has caused bakers to supply a cheaper article in dough-making. The bakers who formerly used two parts of hard to one of soft flour are now reverting that proportion, in some cases nothing but soft Australian flour, which is quoted at eight shillings per hundred pounds, "c. f. l." South African ports, is used.

In a report from Mr. Alex. MacLean, commercial agent in Japan, the continuing increasing consumption of flour, instead of rice by the Japanese is noted. An association for the development of foreign trade has been formed at Tokio, with several leading citizens at its head. The object of the organization is to develop Japan, and its members will tour Europe and by means of cinematographs place before the foreign public the real state of Japanese industries.

It is not improbable that steam motor cars such as are in use on the Great Western Railway in England, will be adopted on the suburban and branch lines of the Canadian Government railways. Mr. G. R. Joughins of the Intercolonial Railway, who spent three months studying motor cars in use in England and the continent, was greatly impressed with those operated on the Great Western Railway. Each motor car is of 216 horse power, and draws four or five coaches at the rate of about forty miles an hour. The motor car is placed in the centre with two coaches on each end, and runs backwards and forwards. The train is controlled by a conductor from either end, the fireman being stationed in the motor car itself. The service given is pronounced excellent. The Canadian Government railways will in all likelihood require ten motor cars, and the first three will be placed in operation next spring at Halifax, Moncton and St. John, N.B., respectively.

It is announced that representatives will be sent by the cities of Victoria, B.C., and St. John's, Newfoundland, to Ottawa, to compete for the Governor-General's musical and theatrical trophy. A committee is being formed here to arrange the preliminaries of the competition, with Colonel Hanbury Williams, President, and Mr. F. C. T. O'Hara as Honorary Secretary.

A Range That Burns All the Coal

MOST likely you have been throwing away good coal every day without knowing it. You open both drafts simultaneously and shut them off the same way. The draft striking the fire from both directions consumes all the fuel, and gives you all the heating power from the coal.

When you empty the ash-pan in a Monarch Range, you are throwing away ashes—and ashes only—not coal. And in addition to this, the Monarch is constructed of Steel and Malleable Iron, which can be riveted so tight and solid that no air-leaks can possibly happen as they do in cast iron ranges.

The top is Malleable Iron, polished and bright. You can keep it clear without smearing your range with blacking which gets on the cooking vessels, to make more work for you.

A $1.00 Cook Book Free. The Monarch Cook Book, written by Mrs. Helen May Thomson, an acknowledged authority on domestic science is a Real Book not a cheap ephemeral, 144 pages bound in cloth or leather covers—a book that would cost $2.00 at the book store.

It contains 250 recipes, many of them new, all simple, easy to make and inexpensive. Has practical menus for the whole year and many valuable hints on diet and marketing. You can get it without cost if you intend buying a range or cook stove within a year.

HOW TO GET IT. Cut out this advertisement, mail it to the Malleable Iron Range Company, Beaver Dam, Wis., and tell them WHEN (stating month if possible) you expect to buy and you will secure this valuable book free. As the edition is limited, write now.

Now, the draft in a Monarch Range is entirely different. Instead of one damper door, there are two, one in each end of the fire-box. These form a double or Duplex Draft, and both are regulated by the same handle.

The Subsidies

Regina, Oct. 29.—As far as Saskatchewan was concerned nothing but the subsidy question was discussed in the conference," was Premier Scott's statement on his return from Ottawa. "Premier Roblin intended to ask Sir Wilfrid Laurier to take up the boundaries question, but Mr. Whitney was not prepared, and the 12th November has been set for Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario to appear at Ottawa again and present their respective claims with regard to the division of Keewatin.

"Yes, Alberta's representatives and ourselves, together with Premiers Whitney of Ontario and McBride of British Columbia, who were not at the former conference held at Quebec in 1902, joined the rest in supporting the Quebec resolutions in favor of the subsidy increase," Mr. Scott went on to say in reply to further questions, "and a motion accordingly was unanimously passed which, however, reserved the right of any province to place any additional claim before the Dominion government. When later on in the course of the conference we were asked to assent to the payment of $100,000 additional per annum to British Columbia for ten years to meet her exceptional conditions, Premier Rutherford and I took the ground that the proposal was fair, but that the other western provinces also had to contend with exceptional conditions. We heartily supported the recommendation for a special payment to British Columbia and moved in addition that each of the three prairie provinces should receive an extra $50,000 annually for ten years. Our motion was not carried. In fact it is simply remarkable to find with what unanimity the opinion prevails outside of the new provinces that Alberta and Saskatchewan were given far better terms than any other province enjoys. I am afraid that a remark of the Montreal Gazette pretty fairly represents eastern sentiment. In an article on the conference the Montreal Gazette complainingly said: 'The new provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, which have been lavishly endowed by the Dominion, also wanted more.' Of course, the fact is that as regards our straight money subsidy, leaving aside our land bargain we occupy precisely the same position as the other provinces. But at all events, we were unable to induce the majority in the conference to agree to any extra payment to the prairie provinces."

"Did you go to Ottawa intending to demand special consideration?" "No. While the extraordinarily rapid settlement of new areas now going on involves unusual local government burdens, we were prepared to be content with an equal subsidy basis applying to the whole Dominion. But when the proposition received general assent that the special conditions of British Columbia should be recognized, a new situation was created. We have conditions to cope with quite as unusual as has British Columbia and we thought we would be doing less than our duty if we failed to attempt to impress the fact upon the conference. The provincial subsidies are paid upon population basis, and it cannot be for a moment disputed that our present conditions necessarily demand a much higher cost per head for education, public works, assistance to hospitals and administration of criminal justice than these services entail in the older provinces."

"Why did Premier McBride withdraw?"

"Mr. McBride set up the claim that British Columbia must have more than the scale of increase asked by the other provinces. It was agreed to recommend an extra payment of $100,000 a year for ten years to British Columbia, and Finance Minister Fielding even went so far as to say that he would agree to a permanent extra payment of $30,000, with a special grant of $40,000 a year for ten years. Mr. McBride said this was not enough and refused to continue a member of the conference. Personally, I think that his course prejudiced the case of his province. The premiers of the five eastern provinces felt without exception that they were stretching the limits of generosity in the $100,000 recommendation, and to have their action thrown back in their faces was not calculated to better dispose them toward the Pacific province. Had Mr. McBride expressed some appreciation of the kindly attitude towards his province which was evidenced by the $100,000 recommendation and acted on the principle that a half loaf is better than no bread, his province would stand a better chance of eventually getting what it things it needs in the way of a full loaf."

"It is understood, then, that the subsidy increase is to be granted?"

"Yes; Sir Wilfrid Laurier plainly expressed the Dominion government's assent to the main proposals and it is understood that the imperial parliament will be asked to pass the necessary amendment to the B. N. A. act. The only thing which leaves any room for doubt of the outcome is the action of Premier McBride. Whether a protest from one province would prevent the imperial authorities from making the amendment remains to be seen."

Western Cities in the Making

— EDMONTON —

From the WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

Edmonton, Oct. 18.—Like practically every other western Canadian city, Edmonton, from a municipal standpoint, has not been able to keep pace with the growth of its population. How fast has been the growth is told by the figures of the census just taken as compared with those taken at the regular census in 1901. In the former year they were 2,552, and in the present year they are 11,534. When speaking of Edmonton it is only fair to include in its population the numbers residing on the other side of the river in the town of Strathcona, which is separated from Edmonton by the Saskatchewan river. Together these two form a compact community of 15,000 population, which has practically sprung into being during the last five years. It is quite true that Edmonton is an old settlement, but it is only in recent years that it has emerged from the status of a village to that of a considerable city. Rapid has been the transition, the town presents, under the circumstances, a remarkably good appearance. In its municipal make-up there are abundant traces of haste, but in its commercial centre the usual evidence of the boom town are entirely absent. Jasper avenue, the central and commanding thoroughfare of the town, is a street that a much larger centre might be proud of. When Winnipeg had no larger population than Edmonton has now, it had no street that could compare with it, either in the solid character of its buildings or public improvements.

The chief business centre of Edmonton is Jasper avenue. It is upon this street that property values have reached their highest point. One recent sale of a lot upon which the buildings are practically valueless, brought $1,000 per foot frontage. This is at the central point, around which the business of the town will centre. For property that is suitable for residential purposes, prices are high. The location of the new government buildings has been anticipated, and the well-wooded land adjacent to the selected site has been held for some time at prices that in comparison with those in the best districts in Winnipeg, would appear to be high. To procure a residence lot say 50 by 150 feet for $500, it would be necessary to go to a considerable distance from the centre of the city. Rents are at present very high, and there are a large number of people living in tents; they are compelled to do so because of their inability to secure dwellings.

Rapid growth of cities provides a pool many opportunities for money-making, and the result is that the attention of the public is diverted to this object to an absorbing extent, with the result that municipal business is neglected by the people in their corporate capacity. During such periods is the very time when municipal matters require the greatest attention. Larger populations make great demands upon the water, light, sewer and other public services, and the capacity of these have to be doubled and trebled in an incredibly short period. Important as these things are to the general welfare of a city, they are apt to be neglected at moments critical in the life of a city. In a measure this occurred in Edmonton, but the citizens took the sensible course of appointing a commission to take charge of the administration of its affairs. This commission is composed of a public works commissioner, the secretary-treasurer of the city, and the mayor. These three with the exception of the mayor, are supposed to give their whole time to the city's affairs. The secretary-treasurer was a permanent official and of course continues to be so, but by virtue of his appointment as commissioner he is made jointly responsible with the other commissioners for the general conduct of the city's affairs. But while this step can be said to be in the right direction, the aldermen of Edmonton have only provided for these men a salary which averages about $2,250 per year for each of the commissioners. This appears to be an error in judgment on the aldermen's part. In a district that is the centre of a vast territory just opening up and being served with railways, it is not to be expected that the remuneration offered will retain the services of men that are capable to supervise and direct the general business of the city.

Edmonton is fortunate in not being hampered by the old-fashioned ward system of electing aldermen. The result of this is shown in the compact character of the city. Streets are being improved on a systematic basis. Starting from the centre of the city they extend gradually outward, and follow systematically the natural trend of growth. Already several streets have been boulevarded and present a very finished appearance. No roadways have been paved as yet, but the principal thoroughfares have been liberally dressed with gravel. They are very traversable as they are, but nevertheless the city council of Edmonton have decided to make their main street "one" in appearance to those of any city in Canada. Already the commissioners have been studying the various classes of pavement that are in use and next summer they intend to expend a considerable sum in laying down permanent pavements.

When the Manufacturers' association visited Edmonton a statement was prepared for their information which set out the growth of public improvements during the past five years. Here are a few of the figures quoted—

1901	1906
Population	2,552 11,534
Miles of plank sidewalk	5 41
Miles of granolithic sidewalk	none 4 1-4
Miles of sewers	none 22
Miles of sewer mains	none 21
Miles of graded streets	none 16

The population, as the enthusiastic Edmontonians never forget to point out, increased at a greater ratio than any other city of Canada during the same period and there is no Edmonton citizen but believes this rate of increase will continue for some time to come. If their hopes are realized it will be very readily realized that the municipal commissioners of Edmonton will have upon their hands a very serious undertaking, more serious, than is apparently realized by the city fathers if the latter's estimate of the commissioners' duties is gauged by the salaries they have fixed for them.

It must be remembered that the municipal commissioners of Edmonton have general supervision of the various municipal ownership undertakings of that city. These include the telephone, electric light and water service. So far the citizens have been satisfied with the operation of these, but they are all at the present time entirely inadequate to the city's needs. In the case of the telephone, an entirely new system is to be installed and the automatic one has been selected. The waterworks system is being changed radically to meet harrier needs and similar changes have to be made in regard to electric lighting. Sudden increase in population has necessitated all these changes and public requirements must be met promptly. At the same time a new sewer system is being put down and some means of disposing of the town refuse and its collection will have to be adopted. In fact the commission is practically faced with the problem of re-organizing the entire municipal system from its village to a city character. Work of this character requires the undivided attention of the best available men which the aldermen cannot reasonably expect to get from the sums they have named as salaries for their commissioners.

At the present time Edmonton has about two hundred and fifty men employed. The greater proportion are engaged in sewer construction. Clay pipes are being used and some brick. Connections to street lines are being made and a bylaw compels owners to make connections with the sewer system. Many new granolithic sidewalks are being put down. A contract for this has been awarded at the rate of $1.90 per square yard. The contractor found that this was an impossible price and it was subsequently changed to $2.40. Until the Canadian Northern commenced handling freight at Edmonton the price of cement was $4.50 per bbl. but the advent of the new line by the change in the freight rate reduced the cost to $3.60. The price of cement will be further lowered, it is expected when the Alberta Cement Works are in operation. Material for the body of concrete is obtained at $1.25 per yard.

The inadequacy of the water system of Edmonton is shown by the number of its water services, which at the present time is only about 650, or one for every eighteen persons as against one for eight in Winnipeg. The rates charged for water are, as compared with those of Winnipeg, somewhat high. For dwelling houses the minimum rate is $8 per annum for a hot and cold water tap. Each additional tap is charged $2 and another dollar for each additional room. Further charges are imposed for in the case of modern improvements as for instance $4 each per annum for baths and closets. These rates are based on a comparatively small consumption and the water and sewer systems are extended in the same proportion as the population has increased, very radical changes in the rates may be looked for. Large consumers are dealt with generously and those using over 300,000 cubic feet per year are charged 6c per 100 cubic feet or about 16c per 1,000 gallons.

Edmonton has invested in her waterworks system approximately $125,000. The total revenue from them was $15,702 and the cash disbursements $24,580. From a special rate levied $4,720 was received. A net deficit for 1905 operation amount of $4,963 was the result for the year.

In electric lighting and power supply Edmonton has had a more satisfactory result than the water supply enterprise. The charges are for a sixteen power light, 50c per month, on a meter basis, 12c per kilowatt hour up to 100

k. w. and then graduated according to amount consumed subject to fixed totals. For power the minimum charge is 10c per k. w. and the minimum 4 cents. In the case of both light and power rents for meters are charged at rates varying from 25c. to 40c per month. The number of meters in operation at the end of January was twelve with aggregate horse power of 46. The total revenue from all services amounted to $45,976 for 1905 and the expenditure to $36,884 leaving a net gain for the year of $9,092. Depreciation on a capital of $105,000 was written off at the rate of two and a half per cent.

Edmonton has at the present time about 550 telephones in operation. Private dwellings are charged $20 and business houses $30 per annum for connections. Last year the cash receipts were $12,942 and the expenses $7,168. The latter includes operating maintenance and sinking fund charges. After deducting depreciation at the rate of $4.149. The heavy allowance for depreciation is made in view of the old plant probably having to be disposed of at a low figure when the new system is ready for operation. In the general balance sheet of the city the capital invested in the telephone enterprise is shown as $23,600.

On the whole Edmonton appears to be well satisfied with their experience in municipal ownership of public utilities. During the next few years capital expenditure will be necessary and no doubt the commissioners, judging by the steps they have already taken, will lay out the money to the best advantage of the city.

Edmonton has been favored by nature, not only in the matter of climate but as to location. The Saskatchewan river has cut into the rolling prairie a wide canyon with rugged banks that are luxuriously clothed in forest. Before it made its present bed it left very spacious flats just below the banks upon which Edmonton has built. These are already covered with grass and brush except where displaced by roads and streets. But there is a large acreage that at the present time is used as a golf ground, and it is well overlooked by the new government buildings. A better site for a park and recreation ground could not well be imagined, and it ought to be secured for the use of the public. No city in the prairie provinces has the same natural beauty as Edmonton. When her main thoroughfare, Jasper avenue, is paved with creosote blocks, as intended, and her streets are boulevarded as one or two have been, and when to these and similar improvements are added a park park such as the flat in front of the government buildings is naturally adapted for, no prairie city will have greater charms. Edmontonians will only have themselves to blame if their city is not made worthy of being the capital of a great province.

That big feed door—that deep ash-pit

Easy to feed this right furnace, —rough wood, big coal, anything it ought to burn, —door's made extra size for just such cheap fuel. Ash pit is easy to clean out, won't get choked every few hours—always ample draft space under grates.

Easiest grate to repair you ever saw—and needs less repairs

Oxford Furnace

Doors made to fit tight—gas and dust proof. Made, too, with hinges that won't sag, latches that won't break, —doors made slam-proof, almost "fool-proof." Everything about this right furnace is common sense and experience—built specially to suit Northwest needs. You know no furnace that costs so little to run. That's because combustion is perfect,—the grate bars assure that. Heats up quick, because fire travel is all one way. Heats most, because fire-walls are corrugated.
